A Card.

Since the publication of my card in the HERALD of last week, I have several more very complimentary and urgent solicitations to become a candidate for the Legislature. I appreciate the confidence this expressed as highly as any man could. I do not change my mind. I will announce myself as a candidate at the Court House next Monday. I am not the choice of a majority of the Democratic and Conservative men of the county. I would thank my friends to advise me before that time, as I trust I am too good a Democrat to want to produce dissensions in the ranks, or to force myself on the people for an office that they do not desire me to fill.

Respectfully,
JOHN P. BARRETT.

What They Say About Us.

The Hartford HERALD of last week came out enlarged to a 32 column paper and otherwise greatly improved. It is with pleasure that we note this evidence of well-observed propriety in our contemporary. The HERALD is a live and interesting paper and merits all the encouragement it can receive. It certainly ought to be in the hands of every family in Ohio county. —[McLean County Progress.]

The Hartford HERALD has grown four columns. Barrett is determined to make it a first-class journal in every particular. —[Hopkinsville News Era.]

If we could secure Gains like the Era office we would have a first rate paper certain.

The Hartford HERALD comes to us this week enlarged to an eight column paper, and is full of interesting local news, an evidence of prosperity alike commendable to Bro. Barrett and the people of Ohio county. By the way, we see several requests have been made for Bro. Barrett to become a candidate for the legislature. If there is a man to whom the people of Ohio county owe a debt of gratitude, it is John P. Barrett, and we hope they will consider their best interests and elect him without opposition. —[Lincoln (Ill) Times.]

We thank Bro. Wallace Nail & Bro. for the kind compliment and assure them we truly appreciate it.

The Hartford HERALD, published in Ohio county Ky., by Mr. John P. Barrett, has been enlarged several columns, and is now one of the best and newest of our weekly exchanges. The HERALD has a handsome typographical appearance, and the selections of its local news, editorial and miscellaneous show the work of an enterprising veteran. —[Evansville Daily Courier.]

Surely it is gratifying to see that our efforts are attracting attention from home. Now if we could attract the right kind of attention from our home people, the HERALD's success would be beyond doubt.

The Hartford (Ky.) HERALD comes to us this week enlarged and greatly improved, having added one column to each page, making it a 32 column paper. The HERALD is a good paper and the people of that region of country should give it a hearty and liberal support. —[Paducah News.]

Evansville Weekly Courier.

This weekly journal was already one of the nicest, newest and most sprightly weeklies in the west, but its proprietors, not contented with that, have enlarged it to 48 columns. It is now a mammoth sheet and a reliable encyclopedia of the passing events. Just think of it! We will sell you the HERALD and this great leading Democratic weekly for a whole year, postage paid, for the trifling little sum of $2.25. Eighty columns a week, or 4,160 a year for $2.25 which is less than one-sixteenth of a cent a column.

Louisiana Free.

The Packard crew pulled their ducks and left the State House on Tuesday of last week, so soon as the support of the United States soldiers were withdrawn. Nicholls now is in undisputed possession of the premises. Now we have a restored Union once more which has been delayed eleven years longer than it should have been. During that eleven years some of the most damning legislation that ever blackened the statute books of any people, has been enacted in the Southern States, a debt has been heaped upon the people mountain high that will take generations to liquidate, and which never benefited them one cent but has enriched a few thousand carpet-baggers only. Had Hayes' policy been inaugurated eleven years ago, the South would have been a free and happy land. The South left to manage her own domestic affairs no pen could begin to portray the difference between the condition of the South today and what it would have been.

However, the old adage "better late than never" and Mr. Hayes is entitled to credit for undoing Grants misdoings.

It seems Charleston belied the contention of Hartford after the spectacle of the Electoral commission had completed their work and, behold, it was not toward him as it was before, and he wandered back in the line from which he had carpet bagged, and bowed his head down and levelled like a yearling jammed in the focus corner by a work star. —[Glasgow Times.]

The McDowell Medical Society.

The seventh semi-annual session of this Society will be held in Madisonville, Ky., on the 9th and 10th of May next. It promises to be one of the largest and most interesting reunions that the Society ever held. Every physician in the 2nd Congressional District is earnestly requested to attend. The citizens of the town will extend their hospitality to all who may be present on the occasion. Excursion rates by rail and river.

Death of Mrs. David R. Murray.

[Correspondent, 28th ult.] Mrs. Anna Murray, a lady extensively known in our State, by reason of her distinguished connections, died at the residence of her late husband, Col. David R. Murray, Cloverport, Ky., Wednesday last. Her husband was the daughter of Col. John A. Murray, a distinguished lawyer of Shelby county, who, during the war of 1812, was distinguished as a soldier, and fell in action at River Raisin. The first husband of Mrs. Anna Murray was Henry Crittenden, a farmer of Shelby, and the Representative of that section in the State Legislature for a number of years. His brother was the celebrated John J. Crittenden. Five sons and three daughters were the result of this marriage. The eldest son, John Allen Crittenden, is now a prominent citizen of Frankfort. Another, Gen. Tom Crittenden, represents a Missouri district in Congress. William Crittenden, also, was in Cuba. After the death of her first husband, Mrs. Crittenden married Col. David R. Murray, an honored citizen of Kentucky, and a resident of Cloverport. Offspring by her second husband, four now live and rank among the best men of Kentucky. They are John Allen Murray, judge of the criminal court at Cloverport; Gen. Eli H. Murray, late United States Marshal of Kentucky; Mr. Logan C. Murray, cashier of the Kentucky National Bank of Louisville; and David R. Murray, of Haverhill, late clerk of the House of Representatives of Kentucky. The deceased was seventy-five years of age. She was a lady of many virtues, a true Christian, a kind and loving parent.

Timely Suggestions.

[Louisville Commercial.] It is gratifying to know that the result of the Eastern war, which first and chiefly affected this country, will be an increased demand for the transportation of our breadstuffs and meats; but even this benefit may be greatly offset by an excessive spirit of speculation, an inordinate grasping after profits, not justified by circumstances. We are apt to talk of the Russo-Russian war as though it would give the United States a monopoly of the business of furnishing supplies, forgetting that there are other large sources of supplies which will compete with us and eventually prevent the extravagant prices on which over-ambitious speculators are setting their hopes. There is great danger lest ignorance of the hostile Government, as well as the vast extent of our own supplies, may involve not only rash speculators in ruin, but may also deprive our farmers of their legitimate profits to which they are entitled, by causing them to hold back their crops until the favorable moment has passed beyond their reach. The result will be the ruin of the ten man who accepts a good profit instead of waiting for something larger. The morning brings bitter disappointment to more than it satisfies. The world is a very big affair, and contains a great many more heads of cattle and grain fields than are in the United States.

LOUISVILLE TRADE Gossip.

The market has been flooded with bad butter this week; it commands about 13 cents. Good butter has been very scarce and readily bought at 23 and 24 cents at wholesale.

There was a rush of eggs, which brought down the price to 10 cents at wholesale. Goose eggs are quoted at 22 cents. Eggs are lower than they have been for some time.

The market is tolerably full of old potatoes at $3.50 to $3.75. New potatoes have dropped to $8 per bushel. Vegetables plenty and cheap.

Cattle have come in freely with no fall in price. Good ranged from $3 to $4; common $2.40. Butcher sheep $4 to $5; shipping sheep $3 with wool on. Plenty of lambs in the market. Hogs ranged from $4.90 to $5.30, and plenty of them. Small spring chickens $3 per dozen. Good fat hens $3.25.

All grains are advancing, as we are predicted in our last report, in consequence of the threatened war in Europe, as the war is almost certain, the prospect is they will still go higher. The prospects of the growing crop in all sections are very good, of which fact Messrs. McGill & Trauman, No. 72 West Main street, have assurances by reason of the large number of letters of inquiry received by them in regard to the Barkey Reaper and Mower, of which they are the sole agents at Louisville.

Almost no mules on the market. Those that were sold brought good prices. About 200 horses were sold this week at good figures. Horses and mules will bring at present all they are worth in this market.

Haymarket Items.

The farmers of this community are progressing finely with their spring work. Some of them are pretty well through with planting corn. The majority are done breaking their grounds. There is the finest prospect of tobacco plants ever known in this part of the country. If no ill winds blow to the tobacco-growers they will be able to run a gorge from here to Europe at the next opening of the market.

Quite a romantic occurrence happened on Monday last at a log-rolling in this community, at which I had the honor of Barrett's Precinct.

Editor Herald: I fail to see the HERALD occasionally, and really feel it a great inconvenience to be deprived of the news of the county, of which the HERALD, he it said to its honor, abounds. The people in my neighborhood have seen the advantage of taking the county paper, and now you may find it upon the table of many who have never read newspapers—a very great improvement in a short time, and will pay four fold the small sum expended for it. The advantages to a family are not to be estimated by dollars and cents; it is really the intellectual and moral improvement of a family, both children and adults. The great curbs to it have not found this out sooner.

Capt. Sam E. Hill.

I notice with pleasure the flattering call upon and the favorable notices of our worthy fellow-citizen Capt. Sam E. Hill, the people's candidate for the Senate of Kentucky. No better choice could be made than this. Captain Hill is a talented man, standing in the front ranks of his profession—a thoughtful, practical, sensible man in full sympathy with the necessities of the people, and though comparatively young, has had much experience, mingled freely with the people and understands their interests, and his warm sympathies are with them. Like Helen and Crittenden, Clay and Andrew Johnson, his very nature identifies him with the welfare of the people. I feel anxious, and fondly hope for his success. He will be an honor to the State, and old Ohio will feel proud of his ability and sterling honor.

Col. John P. Barrett.

I find many calls in the HERALD from nearly every part of the county upon Col. J. P. Barrett to represent the county in next Legislature. The acquaintance of the Colonel with the whole county and its true interests has, doubtless, directed the attention of its citizens to him as a well-qualified and suited for the present crisis. We are fully assured of the industrious habits and vigilance (so well suited to a Representative) of Colonel Barrett, that we cheerfully join in the general demand upon his consent.

Health, Crops, &c.

Much sickness prevails in this part of the county—pneumonia and other fevers. The daughter of Mr. Samuel Hamilton died this morning after her return from Evansville—aged sixteen. Also the wife of Mr. Tobias Midkiff of consumption. Two of Mr. Jacob Waller's children have been very sick with fever, and many others are sick.

Farmers are very busy getting their ground ready for corn, and some little rain has been plenty. There will be an effort for a large crop of tobacco, but I am of the opinion they had better put in less of the "weed" and more grain until there is a better demand for it.

When looks much better than a month ago. Oats are in good condition and promise an abundant yield. W. H. C.

Editor Herald: As the enlargement of our paper is the first thing upon my mind, and this being upon my mind, we are to let it be the first. We heartily congratulate you on the very successful and kindly bestowed efforts in this direction. We are forcibly impressed with this improvement. Certainly this has been done at a considerable expense to yourself, as the price of the paper remains the same. How can you do this we cannot tell, but if you could make this sacrifice, we should appreciate the service all the more, which we certainly do. Another attractive matter is the very interesting "Fragments of the History of Ohio County," by Mr. Taylor, which is devoured by us with the rapidity of the eye's glance, and well it should be.
